Staff Report:

December 2012 Training Department Report:

We had 24 candidates begin the EMT-I process in the 2011-2012 course. Three were dropped - 2 for attendance, 1 for grades. Seven have passed all testing and are certified EMT-I providers. Another 6 tested with us on September 15. Five of the six passed and are certified EMT-I providers. One was required to retest on one station. Of the remaining 8 students, four are continuing to make progress, while the remaining four have not contacted this office, nor have they submitted any Fisdap reports indicating they are continuing in their process. Only one EMT-I student tested with us at the Dec. 1, 2012, National Registry psychomotor exam. He was a retest and must retest the same station again.

We started with 9 EMT-P candidates. One was dropped for unsatisfactory test scores. One has completed her requirements and is a NREMT-P immediately following the end of the course. A second student just passed his exams the first week of December. A third student must retest one station. The remaining five are in the process of completing their patient contact and field time requirements to prepare for testing. Of the remaining five, I have been in contact with four of them as they continue to try to get their patient contact and ALS field requirements met.

EMT-B class: Next class starts January 2013.

Intermediate & Paramedic Classes: Next class starts January 2013.
